Thank you for contacting us and requesting an information kit.

Vein Clinics of America focuses exclusively on treating a wide spectrum of vein disease.
For more than 30 years, VCA network physicians have specialized in the treatment of vein disease, including spider veins, varicose veins, facial veins, hand veins and venous leg ulcers.

Did you know varicose and spider veins are progressive and may only get worse if left untreated? Due to advancements in vein treatment, there are new options for women and men who suffer from vein disease. These minimally invasive treatment options are safer and more effective techniques which are performed in the office and require minimal recovery time. Review the enclosed brochure to learn more.

Many treatment options are covered by insurance.
Our practice accepts most major insurance plans. We help our patients understand their benefits and work with their insurance company to get them the maximum coverage for their treatments.

We also offer special financing options through Care Credit; the enclosed brochure will provide more information.

If you have any questions or would like to schedule a free* consultation at your local Vein Clinics of America office, please call us at (844) 821-VEIN (8346).

Best regards,

Satish Vayuvegula, MD, MS
National Medical Director

One free consultation per person during promotional period. Not redeemable for cash.
If pain and unsightly veins are slowing you down, it’s time to

LISTEN TO YOUR LEGS

veinclinics of America
Varicose veins are enlarged veins that look like bulging or twisted cords. They are red, blue or flesh colored and appear just under the skin’s surface. Spider veins are tiny blood vessels that develop close to the skin’s surface, and can look like a web under the skin.

Although these veins usually occur in the legs, they can also form in other parts of the body. Varicose veins result when some of the connections between veins in the leg no longer function properly.

Symptoms associated with varicose veins include:

- Pain
- Heaviness
- Throbbing
- Swelling
- Itching

Varicose veins can cause mild to moderate pain, blood clots, skin ulcers (sores) or other problems. They can also lead to more serious vein conditions if left untreated.

You have a higher risk of developing varicose veins if you:

- Have family members with the condition
- Are female (Women are 2.5 times more likely to have vein disease than men)
- Are over 30 years of age
- Have a job where you sit or stand for long periods of time
Isn’t it time to leave leg pain behind?

Consider our minimally invasive treatment options

Treating your varicose veins may be easier than you think. At Vein Clinics of America, we perform our treatments right here in our office. After your minimally invasive procedure, you can expect to return to normal activities the next day or sooner.

Sclerotherapy

Problematic veins are treated by injecting a solution called a sclerosant which seals off the unhealthy part of the vein, allowing your body to naturally redirect blood flow to your healthy veins. If you have larger varicose veins, our skilled physicians will utilize an ultrasound to target the precise location of the problem for the best results.

Endovenous Laser Treatment (ELT)

Our expert physicians will insert a small optical fiber into your varicose vein using ultrasound guidance. The optical fiber carries energy from the laser that heats and closes the vein, thus redirecting the blood to other healthy veins. The entire procedure takes an hour or less, and patients report little to no pain.

Your doctor will help you decide which treatment is best for you. Often, patients require both types of treatments for optimal long-term results.
Take the first step today

Deciding to have a procedure like this may seem overwhelming, but it’s really as easy as taking the first step.

1. Schedule a consultation.
Share your concerns, questions and symptoms with one of our compassionate vein experts.

2. Move forward with an exam.
When you feel comfortable proceeding, your dedicated clinician will examine your leg(s) and decide if further ultrasound testing is needed.

One of our knowledgeable insurance specialists will meet with you to determine how you can maximize your benefits for coverage.

Vein mapping—your treatment roadmap
A detailed ultrasound can help determine what treatment plan is right for you. The ultrasound allows us to create a vein map to illustrate where your unhealthy veins are located, showing details that are not visible on the skin’s surface.

Call (844) 328-VEIN (8346) today to set up your personalized consultation.
If your legs are telling you they hurt, it’s time to listen.

“I always thought that some of the ugly stuff in my legs was cellulite, when in fact it was varicose veins. I had spider veins that looked like big bruises. Before treatment, my legs were bothering me so much that I had to wear ugly support stockings under my jeans to avoid blood clots. It’s been almost two years since I started treatment, and the spider veins are now gone.”

Take advantage of easy payment options

Since varicose veins are considered a medical condition, treatment is often covered by your medical insurance provider. Vein Clinics of America accepts most major insurance plans. Since treating vein disease is our specialty, our staff is highly experienced at working directly with insurance companies to ensure you’re getting the coverage you need.

Extra help when insurance isn’t enough

In the event that insurance does not cover the entire cost of your treatment, Care Credit is a credit plan that can be used for your health-related expenses. You can even use it for co-payments and deductibles.

Care Credit

- Access to a revolving line of credit for medical expenses
- A quick and easy approval process
- 12 months of interest-free payments for qualifying patients

Flex Spending (FSA)

FSAs are a valuable benefit to help pay for medical expenses. Reimbursable medical expenses cover many treatments for vein disorders, including varicose veins and venous leg ulcers. Check with your plan’s administrator for your specific coverage options.
Personal stories of success*

Tracy’s story
“I had a lot of aching in my upper legs and occasional cramping in my lower legs. My legs would ache if I had been walking all day, and I wasn’t able to sit for a long period of time. After treatment, I noticed immediate relief from my condition. My legs feel really good now. It’s no longer painful for me to spend a lot of time on my feet.”

Meredith’s story
“My legs hurt and looked bruised. I had to prop them up in order to get some relief from the pressure and pain. I’m so glad I came to Vein Clinics of America. Both my legs feel normal and are free of pain. I highly recommend it to others.”

Mary’s story
“Several years ago, I started noticing these little, tiny veins popping up on my legs. I was self-conscious about the way they looked and constantly had to cover them up.

I wouldn’t trust my legs to anybody but Vein Clinics of America. After treatment, my legs are looking so much better. I even love to wear skirts again.”

Answers to common questions

Q. Is vein treatment covered by insurance?
A. Treatment is often covered by insurance.

Q. What happens if I wait?
A. Varicose and spider veins are progressive; they may continue to get worse if left untreated.

Q. Will I need to be hospitalized or take time off from work?
A. Treatment is performed on an outpatient basis during convenient office visits. You can resume most activities shortly after each session.

Q. Can I just have my small veins treated?
A. In vein treatment it is important to not only treat the unsightly surface spider veins, but also the feeder veins that actually cause them. Treating the feeder veins treats the source of the problem, lessening the chance of recurrence.

Q. How effective is treatment?
A. While it is very unlikely the veins that we treat will come back, new ones can develop. Our follow-up program is designed to prevent varicose veins from recurring.

Q. What should I look for in a physician?
A. Experience matters. Varicose vein disease can be complex, and each patient is unique. VCA requires that its physicians go through an extensive training program to ensure they are properly trained in the various vein treatment procedures.

For amounts not on this chart or for amounts over $25,000, please ask your provider.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION ABOUT ESTIMATED MONTHLY PAYMENT OPTIONS: Monthly payments shown in this table should allow you to pay the associated total amount financed in full within the promotional period if: (a) this amount is and will be the only balance on your account during the promotional period and (b) you make the monthly payment shown by the due date each month.

IN ADDITION

For Optional Equal Monthly Payments: Your total payments (cost) will equal the total amount financed. Payments shown in the table are equal to the total amount financed divided by the number of months in the promotional period and are greater than the required minimum monthly payment that will be shown on your billing statement for this promotional purchase. If you have any additional balance on your account, even paying each Optional Equal Monthly Payment may not pay off the total amount financed within the promotional period, and interest may be charged to your account from the purchase date.

For 14.90% APR and Fixed Monthly Payments: If you have any additional balance on your account, the monthly payments applicable to those balances will be added to this fixed payment and may impact how payments are applied to this promotional purchase.
